

DRAFT

DFW INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT
STANDARD OPERATING PROCEDURE (SOP)

Title: RECORDING POLICE ACTIVITY		Code Number: XX.XXX.XX
Functional Category: POLICE SERVICES	Issuing Department: PUBLIC SAFETY	Effective Date: mm/dd/yyyy

DRAFT – FOR DISCUSSION PURPOSES ONLY

1.0 PURPOSE

- 1.1 This policy provides officers with guidance for dealing with situations in which they are being recorded, to include photographing, videotaping, audiotaping, or both, by members of the public or the press.

2.0 DEPARTMENTS / PERSONS AFFECTED

- 2.1 Police Services

3.0 POLICY

- 3.1 Members of the public have a First Amendment right to record officers in public discharge of their duties. No member of DFW Police may prevent or prohibit any person’s ability to observe, photography, and/or make a video recording of police during activity in an area where individuals have a legal right to be present, so long as the person’s location, actions, or behavior do not create a legitimate articulable threat to officer safety or an unlawful hindrance to successful resolution of the police activity.

4.0 PROCEDURE

- 4.1 Persons who are lawfully in public spaces or locations where they have a legal right to be present—such as their home, place of business, or the common areas of public and private facilities and buildings—have a First Amendment right to record things in plain sight or hearing, to include police activity. Police may not threaten, intimidate, or otherwise discourage or interfere with the recording of police activities. However, the right to record is not absolute and is subject to legitimate and reasonable legal restrictions, as follows:
 - 4.1.1 A reasonable distance must be maintained from the officer(s) engaged in enforcement or related police duties.
 - 4.1.2 Persons engaged in recording activities may not obstruct police actions. Individuals may not interfere through direct physical intervention, tampering with a witness, or by persistently engaging an officer with questions or interruptions.
 - 4.1.3 Recording must be conducted in a manner that does not unreasonably impede the movement of emergency equipment and personnel or the flow of vehicular or pedestrian traffic.
 - 4.1.4 The safety of officers, victims, witnesses, and third parties cannot be jeopardized by the recording party.
- 4.2 The U.S. Supreme Court has held that “a properly trained officer may reasonably be expected to exercise a higher degree of restraint” than the average citizen when it comes to reacting to insults or “fighting words”. The First Amendment protects a significant amount of verbal criticism and challenge directed at police officers.
- 4.3 A person’s expression of criticism of the police, or the police activity being observed, does not amount to interference.

4.4 Arrest

- 4.4.1 Persons who violate the foregoing restrictions should be informed that they are engaged in prohibited activity and given information on acceptable alternatives, where appropriate, prior to making an arrest.
- 4.4.2 Arrest of a person who is recording officers in public shall be related to an objective, articulable violation of the law unrelated to the act of recording. The act of recording does not, in itself, provide grounds for detention or arrest.
- 4.4.3 Arrest of an individual does not provide an exception to the warrant requirement justifying search of the individual's recording equipment or media. While equipment may be seized incident to an arrest, downloading, viewing, or otherwise accessing files requires a search warrant. Files and media shall not be altered or erased under any circumstances.

4.5 Seizure of Recording Devices and Media

- 4.5.1 Absent arrest of the recording party, recording equipment may not be seized. Additionally, officers may not order an individual to show recordings that have been made of enforcement actions or other police operations.
- 4.5.2 If there is probable cause to believe that evidence of a serious crime has been recorded, an officer should:
 - 4.5.2.1 advise and receive instructions from a supervisor;
 - 4.5.2.2 ask the person in possession of the recording if he or she will consent to voluntarily and temporarily relinquish the recording device or media so that it may be viewed and/or copied as evidence; and
 - 4.5.2.3 in exigent circumstances, in which it is reasonable to believe that the recording will be destroyed, lost, tampered with or otherwise rendered useless as evidence before a warrant can be obtained, the recording device or media may be seized under a temporary restraint. A warrant must be obtained in order to examine and copy the recording and the chain of custody must be clearly documented per department policy.
- 4.5.3 In exigent situations where it is objectively reasonable to believe that immediate viewing of recordings is necessary to prevent death or serious bodily harm of another before a warrant can be authorized, the recording device or media may be seized and viewed.
- 4.5.4 Whenever a recording device or media is seized without a warrant or obtained by voluntary consent, the seized item shall be held in police custody no longer than reasonably necessary for the police, acting with due diligence, to obtain a warrant. The device must be returned at the earliest possible time and its owner/operator given instruction on how it can be retrieved. In all cases property receipts shall be provided to the owner.

5.0 RESPONSIBILITIES

5.1 Supervisors

- 5.1.1 A supervisor should be called to any incident in which an individual recording police activity is going to be, or will most likely be, arrested or when recording equipment may be seized without a warrant or lawful consent.

6.0 DEFINITIONS

- 6.1 Media. The storage source for visual or audio recordings, whether by film, analog, or digital means.

DRAFT

- 6.2 Photographing. The act of capturing and storing a still image, whether in an electronic/digital format, or on any type of light sensitive film.
- 6.3 Recording. The act of capturing images, audio, or both, by means of a camera, cell phone, audio recorder, or other device.
- 6.4 Recording Devices. A device capable of capturing a still or moving image(s), regardless of whether or not a simultaneous audio recording is included. A cellular telephone of any make, model, manufactures, including those devices referred to as "Smart phones". A tablet-style computer, commonly referred to as a "tablet".
